Breed Health – The Hungarian Vizsla is a generally healthy breed however as with any breed of dog there are some health conditions observed. The current recommendations from the UK Kennel club is that Breeding stock should be hip scored prior to breeding, in addition to this requirement we also voluntarily test our breeding stock for HUU, Cerebellar Ataxia and the Longhaired gene we also have our breeding stock checked for audible heart rhythm abnormalities, some of our breeding stock are also tested for Eyes conditions, Thyroid, Elbow dysplasia copies of certification for tests done on your puppy's parents are supplied in your puppy pack. Conditions we cannot test for as there are no tests available are things such as Epilepsy, Vizsla Inflammatory polymyopathy, other autoimmune conditions, we do not breed from dogs/bitches that are physically affected by any of these conditions themselves and we keep inbreeding coefficient low to minimise risk but you must accept that when buying a pedigree Hungarian Vizsla there is a risk your dog could be affected by a health condition. You agree to notify us at the soonest opportunity of any health condition your veterinary surgeon believes to be hereditary.

Breeding-This Dog is sold with a progeny not for registration endorsement R placed on his or her kennel club registration, we do not routinely lift endorsements on dogs or bitches which were purchased for activities excluding showing and breeding.
